VIDEO-DIALOGUE WITH IRENE PITTATORE

In collaboration with Opere Scelte

Irene Pittatore discloses how she is spending the lockdown in Liguria, far from her home, where she had gone before the crisis for a short business journey. The sink was broken and this inspired Irene to create her project COVID-19 isolation journal that moved everyday life to the bathtub, an even more limited area of the house where she washed the dishes and where reality became mixed with dreams, desires and needs. The project then split in two parts, involving other people through a video call on Facebook from which she took photos, a sentimental portrait of the isolation. The narrative voices of the artist and Nicoletta Daldanise drive us through the flow of images of the projects.
